GAME IN THE NATIONAL PARKS

By J. A. BRECKONS.
(Special Correspondence of the Star)
WASHINGTON, July 3.—What is regarded as the most accurate report on the big game of the United States has just been issued by the Biological Survey. According to this report, opportunity to hunt big game is now afforded in all the states except eleven. Deer hunting is permitted in thirty-seven states; elk hunting is permitted in Wyoming, Montana and Idaho; an open season for moose is provided in Maine and Minnesota; mountain sheep may be hunted in Montana, Wyoming and Idaho; mountain goats in Montana, Washington and Idaho. Antelope are now protected throughout the United States, and caribou occur only in Idaho and Minnesota, where they are protected throughout the year. Some states limit each hunter to one head of each kind of big game, but in the case of deer the limits are usually more liberal. According to this report, there are 2900 deer in Oregon, 1500 in Montana, 1400 in Wyoming and 700 in Colorado. States in which wild elk occur are Wyoming, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Oregon, Washington, Minnesota and New York. The loss in the Jackson Hole, Wyo., region last winter is given as normal, and wholesale losses only averted by an unexpected March thaw. Only about sixty tons of hay were fed the elk of that region during the winter, while the amount expended from the special appropriation was $627 as compared with $3,782 for the previous winter. About 1700 elk were killed by hunters in Wyoming during the open season last year, and the total in all states is given at approximately 4000. In Colorado the elk are reported as increasing slowly, and the total number now in that state is given as 2150. The small herds of elk in the Klamath national forest, Oregon, are holding their own, as are the small herds to be found in other counties of that state, notably in the Innaba, Siuslaw, Cascade and Whitman national forests. In Washington the Roosevelt elk in the Olympics are reported as showing a perceptible increase, the total number now being estimated at 6500, of which about 1975 are in the Olympic national forest. In the northern Rocky Mountain region, moose are increasing under protection. In Idaho the state warden believes that an open season on adult bulls may now safely be provided for a few years, and the same condition prevails in Wyoming. There are 1500 moose in Yellowstone Park, 500 in Wyoming, 500 in Montana, 500 in Idaho. The condition of antelope still continues unsatisfactory, notwithstanding the complete protection now enjoyed by those animals. The closed season expires in 1912 in Colorado and Texas. Encroachment of their former ranges by sheep, and the rapid settlement of the west, is given as a reason for the decreasing number. Wyoming is the only state to make report on the number of mountain sheep killed during the past year, where the state game warden places the number killed at sixty-five. In Colorado, where no open season has been provided for twenty-five years, sheep are showing a satisfactory increase. The state of Washington is credited with 1700 mountain goats outside of Mount Rainier Park, and the total number killed annually is in excess of the natural increase. Goats in Idaho and Montana are increasing in numbers. There are today 2108 pure bred buffalo in the United States, as compared with 1917 in 1908. Of these, 1907 are in captivity in the United States, 626 in captivity in Canada, and 475 are wild. The corresponding figures for 1908 were 1116, 476 and 325. The decrease in the number in the United States is due to large purchases made by the Canadian government; the total number of buffalo, however, has increased almost 200 head. The outlaw herd belong to Michael Pablo, of Bonan, Mont., which has thus far defied all attempts at capture, is supposed to number about seventy-five head. In Colorado the last chapter in the history of the

Morning Cable Report

BEVERLY, Massachusetts, July 24.—President Taft is back in his summer capital ready for relaxation after his strenuous campaign for Reciprocity and the worries of arbitration.

The President yesterday issued a statement in connection with the fight in the senate upon the Reciprocity agreement in which he declared that the campaign for Reciprocity would have been unavailing except for Democratic aid.

The President adds that he feels certain that the farmers of the country will benefit by the agreement, and he believes that Canada will accept the Reciprocity agreement as it stands.

JUAREZ, Mexico, July 24.—Fighting in the streets of this city took place yesterday in a three-cornered clash between the police, insurgents and soldiers in which one man was killed and two severely wounded.

To bands of well armed liberals are threatening this city from the nearby hills and the fate of a detachment of rurales sent to quell them is unknown, but the graves fears are felt for them.

BOSTON, July 24.—One death from cholera took place in this city yesterday and the members of the board of health are taking stringent measures to prevent a spread of the disease.

The dead man was a sailor in one of the boarding houses along the waterfront and the authorities are seeking for a number of sick sailors who fled from their lodgings when their companion was stricken.

NEW YORK, July 24.—No more cases of cholera developed yesterday in quarantine and no deaths were reported.

PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, July 24.—The rebels not only hold all the northern towns of the country, but are marching on the capital and yesterday captured General Thomas, commandant of the federal troops at Croix des Bouquets.

The news arrived last evening that the revolutionists beheaded the General and a number of his officers with machetes.

DALLAS, Texas, July 24.—Later returns from the special election indicate that the anti-prohibitionists are slightly in the lead. It was asserted here last evening that the liquor advocates have used fraudulent tactics and that it is certain that formal charges will be made in this respect by the Prohibition leaders.

Lost Park herd was written when the state sold the same and heads for $1085.
